Want to save gas? Try the buddy system

By MARGIE LEE
(Of the Sun-Journal Staff)

Billions of gallons of gasoline could be saved annually if the U.S. motoring public would reduce speeds, as suggested by President Nixon, join carpools, and take advantage of public transportation.

Residents living in the Calumet area have several sources of transportation other than cars that can and should be utilized.

The South Suburban Bus Lines offer transportation to the loop every 15 minutes during rush hours and once an hour during non-peak periods. Residents from Lansing and Calumet City have the buses running from Ridge Road and Torrence Avenue, to Wentworth Avenue, to Sibley Boulevard. Those living in Indiana who prefer to take the bus to the loop, may catch it most conveniently along Wentworth Avenue.

For those who prefer rail transportation, both the South Shore and Illinois Central offer convenient service to both Illinois and Indiana residents.

The South Shore trains run 10-15 minutes apart during peak periods and once an hour during the non-rush hours.

The Illinois Central system runs every 12 minutes during rush hours and every half hour during non-peak periods.

For area residents who don't work in the loop, carpools are an ideal way to get to and from work.

The Inland "Steelmaker" and the U.S. Steel, "Steel Sheet" have a continuous flow of ads from people seeking riders for carpools, or workers seeking carpools.

Other gasoline-saving methods, which could be utilized by housewifes, are joining carpools to transport the kids to school, or going grocery shopping with a neighbor.

The Highway Users Federation for Safety and Mobility, a Washington-based nonprofit organization representing 600 highway-related businesses and industries, released a report, "Highway Transportation Fuel Conservation," amid growing speculation that troubles in the Mideast could affect normal distribution of oil. Two-thirds of the world's known oil reserves are located in the Middle East and North Africa, with about half in countries bordering on the Persian Gulf.

The Federation's report says that if all passenger cars going more than 50 mph on the 600,000 miles of main rural roads in the U. S. (including the Interstate) would reduce their speed by 10 mph, a fuel savings of 3 billion gallons a year would be realized. If 60 per cent of those who drive to work would carpool, another 1.8 billion gallons would be saved. An additional 97 million gallons would be saved if only one per cent of urban travel could be shifted from streets to freeway links currently not available.

The Federation said that while reducing speeds would save significant amounts of fuel, a federal speed limit may not be feasible since it would require costly, strict enforcement to realize major fuel savings. The report also noted that if all cars, trucks and buses traveling on rural segments of the Interstate would cut speeds by 10 mph, 1.9 billion gallons of gasoline a year would be saved.

In the area of carpooling, the report said that for every 10 per cent increase in the number of commuters joining carpools, a 1.5 per cent saving in gasoline nationally would result.

Stop-and-go driving on city streets can easily double fuel consumption, so programs to improve city traffic flow "can be expected to improve the fuel economy of vehicles using the arterials," the report stated. It also said that construction of essential links in expressway networks "can be a worthwhile component of a community fuel conservation program."

"Studies have shown that fuel consumption for average urban freeway travel is about 20 per cent less than fuel use for comparable travel on arterial streets," the report added.

Commenting on the report, D. Grant Mickle, president of the federation, said, "The significance of these fuel-saving measures lies in the fact that although they would cut our gasoline consumption markedly, they in no way restrict our mobility. On the contrary, these measures would help insure that we could continue to move freely, without altering our life styles, while at the same time using less gasoline."

St. Ann's to dedicate flag pole

St. Ann's is about to proclaim its confidence and its trust in America. The Catholic church, 3610 Ridge Rd., Lansing, has recently erected a flagpole on the lawn just east of the church, and plans to fly the flag continuously with illumination at night.

The flag was acquired to symbolize the gratitude to our country for its gifts of freedom and liberty and for its climate of individual and social justice. St. Ann's hopes it will serve as a reminder to all of America's civic and social virtues.

Dedication of the site will take place after the noon mass tomorrow, November 11. A special liturgy has been prepared and prominent dignitaries and local and state officials have been invited to attend. All parishioners are urged to attend this ceremony.

Purchased with church funds and the donations of anonymous friends, the flagpole was erected thanks to the sweat and toil of some of the church members. Members of St. Ann's are proud to show that they are Catholics and Americans, too.

Residents Show Strong Nixon Support

If President Nixon is in trouble over Watergate and the missing tapes, you wouldn't know it here in the Calumet Region. A four-day telephone survey, reaching more than 1,600 homes in Lansing, Calumet City, Munster, Highland, Griffith and Dyer, indicated strong support for the President.

While national polls reflect a majority of Americans favoring either impeachment or a Presidential resignation, only 23 per cent of telephone respondents endorsed these actions. The largest segment of Calumet Region residents, some 55 per cent, said Mr. Nixon should remain in office. A surprisingly small 22 per cent said they were undecided as to what action, if any, should be taken.

When the figures are broken down to reveal the dispositions of those who voiced an opinion (ommitting the undecided vote) the support for the President comes through even clearer. Some 79 per cent said "no" to the question of should Mr. Nixon resign with the remaining 29 per cent urging immediate action to change Presidents.

While the grass roots backing of the President is a story in itself, the comments of several respondents proved even more interesting. One woman in Calumet City said she didn't know what to do about the situation, adding "only the Good Lord knows." Several people offered the sage comment that they are not privy to enough information to make that kind of decision. "I'm not a judge," one Lansing man commented. Others put their faith in Congress, saying that the Watergate problem would be resolved on the Hill and that they would go along with whatever the House and Senate came up with. One particularly disinterested respondent in Munster said "That's his problem."

Some of the people called by the Sun-Journal took the opportunity to sould off on the Watergate issue. An unusually strong supporter of the President said: "People are forgetting that this is the man who ended the war in Viet Nam, created more jobs at home, made friends with the Russians and Chinese and averted a World War in the Mid East. Some of his workers get in a little trouble and people want to throw him out of office."

On the other side of the fence, a woman took the President to task for what she termed a "lack of strong leadership." She said: "What kind of example is Nixon setting for the kids today? His administration is the worst one our country's ever had. Crime, graft and corruption have no business being in Washington. Neither does Nixon."

So while George Gallup and other pollsters are sounding the death knell for Nixon's Presidency, there isn't much supportive evidence in the Calumet Region. Apparently the Watergate hearings, Agnew's resignation and the missing tapes have not damaged Mr. Nixon as seriously as was once believed.

LOCAL CHURCH NEWS

'A letter from home'

by Bob Hastings

If you are like me, you have probably said the following about other people: "I can't understand why she said that." "It's beyond me why anyone would so such a thing." "Can you imagine him reacting that way?"

When we make such remarks about other persons, we imply that we would have done otherwise. Or said otherwise. Or acted otherwise.

The truth is that we can never know how we would react or what we would say, unless we were in that person's shoes.

We do not know all the pressures he faces, or the background details. We see only that part of the iceberg which is above water. Only the person we presume to judge knows what hides beneath the surface.

A kinder, fairer judgment of another person would be, "I might have reacted in the same way myself."

This does not approve his actions or words. This does not say that what he did or said is right. This merely admits that under similar circumstances, I might have reacted no less nobly than the person I am judging.

"The reasoning of men is feeble, and our plans are fallible; because a perishable body weighs down the soul, and its frame of clay burdens the mind ... With difficulty we guess even at things on earth ... and who has ever traced out what is in heaven?" (Wisdom of Solomon 9:14-16 NEB).

Thoughts

From The Living Bible

If you must choose, take a good name rather than great riches; for to be held in loving esteem is better than silver and gold. The rich and the poor are alike before the Lord who made them all. A prudent man foresees the difficulties ahead and prepares for them; the simpleton goes blindly on and suffers the consequences. True humility and respect for the Lord lead a man to riches, honor and long life. The rebel walks a thorny, treacherous road; the man who values his soul will stay away.

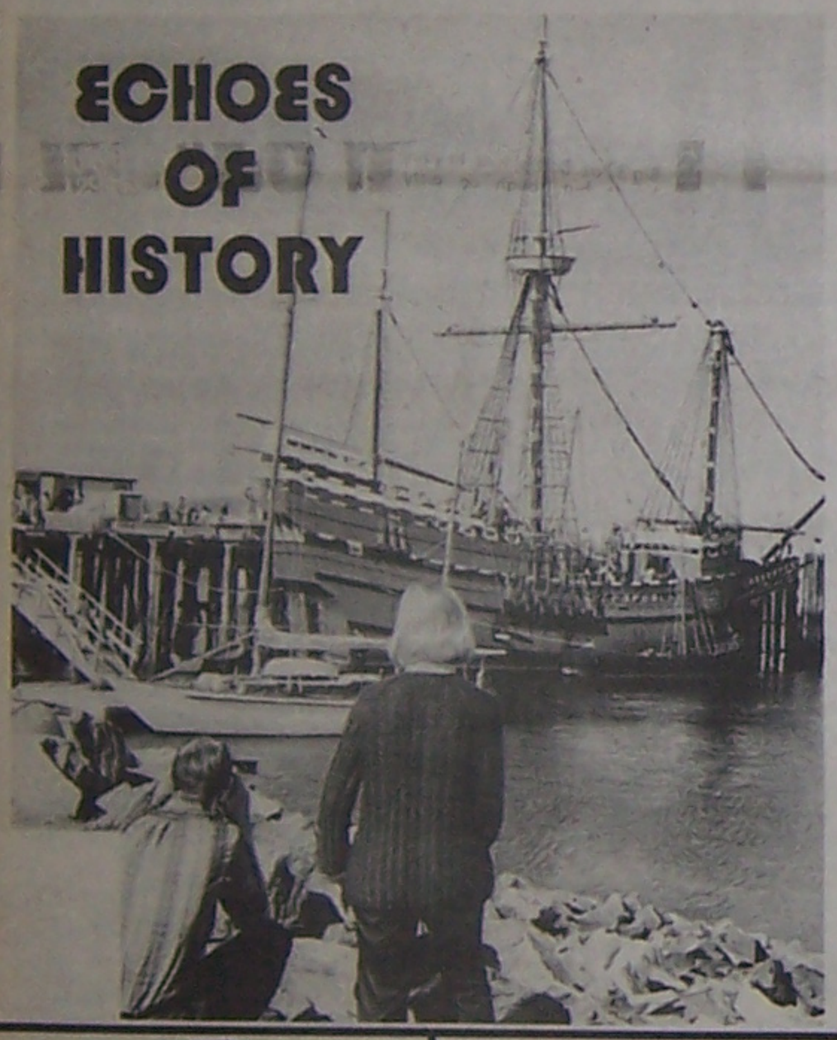
ECHOES OF HISTORY



From all over the world people come to visit her at Plymouth Harbor. They speak in many tongues, but their tone of amazement is always the same. How did the Pilgrims do it? How did over 100 men, women and children exist in those cramped quarters and that 67-day voyage across the vast and treacherous Atlantic?

A replica of Mayflower I, this small craft required a feat of seamanship even in these modern times, when she was sailed across the seas to Plymouth. But she is also sturdy and her decks echo with history.

How did the Pilgrims do it? They had an overwhelming goal, great courage and most important of all, tremendous faith. They lived to offer thanksgiving—but as human and frail and frightened as any of us.

A strong faith can be found in your church today. Consider it, won't you?

The food stamps program has been revised in Cook County to meet new Federal regulations. Guidelines have been changed to more effectively serve the elderly. If you pay more than 30 per cent of your income for shelter or if you have a lot of medical expenses, allowances have been made that may make you eligible.

If your income is the same each month (usually when on Social Security) you can be certified for the whole year and you need not apply each month.

The nearest food stamp office for Lansing residents is in Harvey at 15332 Center Ave., the phone number is 339-3600. I would suggest that if you think that you are eligible that you go in person.

This program is provided by the Government to help you get over the rough spots, so don't feel shy about applying. I am sure that some arrangements can be made for transportation.

While we are on the subject of food this will be a good time to remind you all of Jean Pauling's annoucement last Monday that henceforth the dinners will be served at St. John's Lutheran Church on the corner of Randolph and Wentworth Avenue. No dinner Monday November 12 since it's Veteran's day, but after Monday we will go to the new location.

If you have not sent some token of your appreciation to the members of the Apostolic Church yet, it is not too late to do so now. If love is acknowledged more will come. Remember, these people owed us nothing, it was their love for the Seniors that made the building available. Good friends are more than material riches.

At Tuesday's meeting of the Lansing Senior Citizen's Club, the committee in charge of the Christmas dinner was appointed. Walter Hopkins accepted the chairmanship. Those assisting him are Art Weber, Nina Weber, William Nordgren, Isabelle Ralph, Cassilda Ward, Sue Wagenaar, Clarence Nyberg, Olive Nyberg, Carl Larson, Ina Larson, Kay Adley, Marge Gaughan and Clara Latulip.

The dinner this year will be held in the daytime instead of the evening since it's becoming increasingly difficult for the majority of the Seniors to go out after dark, due to lack of transportation.

Special guests at the meeting this week were Raymond Nudi, President of the Lansing Copper Mug Club and Elmer Pearson who came to present Seniors with a check to cover the cost of the entertainment. The fabulous Show-Teens are expected. That is a treat if there ever was one. Other guests were Peter Steinhauer, William Morris, Frances Morris and Florence Nygard.

Among those celebrating birthdays this month are Carl Larson, Peter Busch, Gussie Siedelmann, Frances Barbeauld, Gertrude Van Loon, Mack Foreman, Frances Bennett, Natalie Barclay, Buford Walker, Elizabeth Thielen, Cassilda Ward and John Reich. Today they all admitted to being over 39.

Cammile Markey, Martha Conner, Florence Phlaum, Marion Hunter, Gertrude Ellis and Cecil MacLaughlin have not been at the last few meetings, we missed them all and wish them a speedy return.

Rose Karr is back home and planning on attending the Christmas dinner. Mollie Mohr announced that she is leaving for Florida next week to spend the winter with her niece in Milburn. As her birthday is in December her family is giving her an early birthday party this week.

Keep cool with Nixon

It would appear that the President has found a way to keep the heat off the Watergate mess...he's going to freeze us out this winter.

In speaking to the national Wednesday night, Mr. Nixon outlined his plan to meet the energy crisis — turn down the thermostat, dim the lights and drive slower. By doing this, the President explained, we would save on fuel oil, electricity and gasoline.

There can be no question that the problem does exist. Recent embargor of oil shipments from the Middle East and our own dwindling energy supply really has us behind the eight ball. But it's interesting how Nixon's Watergate woes cast a shadow on nearly everything he has to say. The President probably likes to think of Wednesday night's speech as a "fireside" chat in the best tradition of FDR. In reality, public reaction has been skeptical at best. It's getting to the point where Richard Nixon could tell people the sun was coming up tomorrow and nobody would believe him.

I would like to take this opportunity to clear the air on a rumor that started shortly after the President concluded his talk. There is no truth in the story that the plumbers broke into the Watergate to turn the heat down.

Actually, I kind of like what the President had to say. Let's face it, America has a problem and we're all going to sacrifice here and there to solve it. People do keep their homes too warm, drive too fast and leave lights on when they should be off. There is room for improvement here.

On the negative side, this business about a 50-mph speed limit is a bit extreme. It's beginning to sound like Nixon hired Johnny Cash as a speech writer. He also suggested that certain roads be closed off to cars with only one occupant. If that comes to pass, we're going to have to pick up hitchhikers to get where we are going.

Finally, the President really left himself wide open on the thermostat issue. He wants you to keep the heat in your home between 65-68 degrees, while magnanimously declaring that all federal building, including the White House, would maintain that low temperature. Big deal, any fool knows the President ducks out for Key Biscayne or San Clemente everytime it gets cold.

The standing joke around this office, and probably offices around the country, is that janitors at the San Clemente and Key Biscayne mansions are going to have to work their air conditioners round the clock to keep the temperature down to 65 degrees all winter.

Lansing lightweights finish as picture of perfection

The Lansing Lions lightweight football team were a picture of perfection as they rolled their way to an undefeated season. East Chicago Heights came into Lansing and left later that day another victim of the young Lions.

The Lansing team, with their 28-13 demolition of the Heights team, won the South Suburban Grammar School Title. And last Sunday was a typical win for the Lions.

Forcing the Heights team to punt, it took only three plays before the Lions were on the scoreboard. D. Butkus carried the ball into the endzone and E. Kaiser added the PAT.

On their next possession, the Lions again scored, with this one coming on a 20 yard pass from P. Sember to C. Swanson. J. Kosich scored the PAT and it was all Lansing so far.

Things didn't change as a third touchdown was registered when Sember again unloading a scoring pass, this time to D. Pierce with Kaiser adding the PAT. Then late in the second quarter, an errant Heights pass found its way to Lansing's B. Gardiner, who carried it into the endzone for yet another score. Sember scored the extra point on an end sweep.

With the game well in hand, Lansing coach M. Morrie substituted freely in the second half. The Heights team didn't get on the board until the fourth quarter, having been held to one first down for the first three periods.

Statistics for the year show quarterback P. Sember running for 228 yards, scoring 61 points and passing for 10 TDs. Pierce rushed for 248 yards, caught passes good for 233 yards and scored 30 points. J. Kosich was the team's leading ground gainer, running for 297 yards, receptions for 28 yards and scoring 26 points.

D. Butkus, used primarily as a blocker, scored 14 points. The ends, E. Trevino and C. Swanson, contributed for three touchdowns and six extra points. To round out the scoring, E. Kaiser had two PATs and lineman B. Gardiner one touchdown.

"Don't just stand there, ref, block!" That just about sums up the feelings of this Lion runner as he plows dutifully ahead in his team's quest of an undefeated season. I don't know if he made it, but his team did.

Lions "heavies" lose final game

The Lansing Lions heavyweight football team ended their season on a sour note, losing to East Chicago Heights 20-13 last Sunday in Lansing.

After a scoreless first quarter, Lansing got on the board first when Lions lineman John McCaslin tipped a Heights pass into the air. Joe Garza, another Lions player, caught the ball and ran 20 yards for a touchdown. The PAT was no good and the Lions had a quick 6-0 lead.

But just as quickly, the Heights team got right back in the game, running the ensuing kickoff back for a score of their own. Their point after try was no good and the score was knotted at 6-6.

That's the way the half ended, but the third quarter brought another Heights score, this one coming on a pass play. The PAT was good and Lansing was down 13-6.

Later in the quarter, Lions quarterback Jamie Mashmayer threw a beatiful pass to Rick Welch for a 15 yard touchdown. But the point after was again no good and the Heights still led 13-12.

The fourth quarter was the downfall for the Lions as the Heights team scored again, making it 20-13.

Lions coaches Jerry Pattorf, Rich Brown, D. Pipper and G. Bruegman are very proud of the team and are looking forward to next year.

"OK, you guys, we got to win this one for the coach!" The Rebels might not have won this one for coach Joe DeSoto, but they won the game last week anyway. And there's only one more game to win and that's today against Oak Forest. (SUN Photo)

North, South finish almost seasons today

It's been about three months since the teams first went out to begin preparing for the season. And now, it's almost over.

For South, it was an almost year. They almost won the division and they almost became very well-known. But almost doesn't count.

For North, it was a should have been year. This should have been their year for power and glory. They had the horses and they had the schedule. But what should have now becomes what could have.

In certain respects, it has been a disappointing season for both teams. Neither won the division, neither got much publicity in the big papers. Neither team had a fantastic record.

But in a lot more items, it has been the best year for prep football in this area in a long time. For South, this season has been a surprise. The Rebels have shown the strongest defense around here in years. And the offense became a pleasant surprise the past few weeks.

In the Meteor camp, they have rebounded off of what could have been a horrendous year into a possible 7-3 season. And they have a quarterback that might be the best thing since all-American John Freyman a few years ago.

Both teams have shown a lot of guts and persistence this year and they have some pretty good kids coming back for next year. But there's one final game left and don't think that these teams will be thinking about what could have been.

South, runners-up in their division, will host Oak Forest, runner-up in their division. The Bengals, a young school with little football tradition to look back on, will certainly have something to look back on after this year. They are 6-1 going into today's action and a 7-1 record is looking mighty inviting to them.

But South, 6-2-1 on the season, will be looking to have one of the most successful seasons in their history. They've come on like gangbusters in their last six games and they, too, would like to exit a winner.

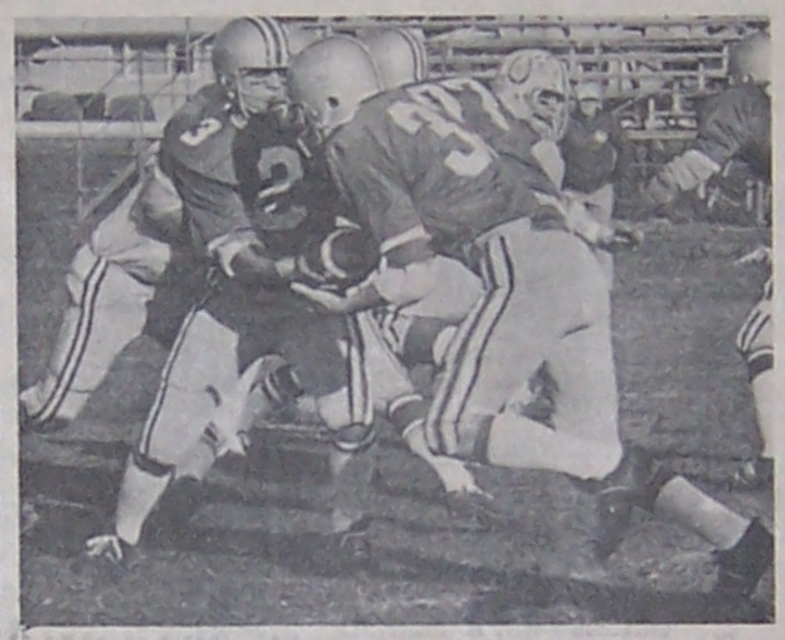
Crete, perhaps the most surprising team in all four divisions, is 4-5 so far. But if that record doesn't surprise you, then you don't remember good old Crete, doormat of the old Southeast Suburban Conference.

It used to be that if Crete won more than one game in a season, then it was cause for celebration. And four wins, well, that's just unbelievable.

But North better be believing when they square off against the Warriors. In their last two games, Crete hasn't allowed one single point on the scoreboard. That just doesn't sound like the good old Crete I used to know.

North wants to end their season at 7-3 and shove that into the faces of the experts that predicted a last-place finish for them this year. So what we have here is two teams that want to win that last game for the experts.

And for that matter, so do Oak Forest and South. It should be very interesting, to say the least.



The Rebel offense has suddenly come alive the last few games and the result is a second place finish for South in the division. North, fourth-place finishers in the same division, will be hoping for a win over surprising Crete in Cal City. (SUN Photo)

Hillcrest, S. Bend win playoff games

It was a titanic defensive struggle and the Hillcrest Hawks just had too much of the big D as they managed to eke out a 16-0 final win over Thornridge.

The Hawks fumbles eight times in the game, losing six of those. But the defense rose to the occasion, twice stopping the Falcon inside the 15 yard line.

For a while, it looked as if both teams had left their offenses behind. Neither team could get any offensive momentum gathered. And it was the defense for Hillcrest that finally put them on the board.

Dave Zemevich blew in from his defensive tackle position and blocked a Falcon punt. He then recovered the rolling ball and lumbered 33 yards into the Thornridge endzone. Mike Chekos ran in the two-point conversion and the Hawks had all the points they would need with 7:22 left in the first quarter.

For the next three quarters, it was defense against defense as the Falcons failed time after time to capitalize on the Hawks turnovers.

Hillcrest still held on to their 8-0 lead at the half. And the stats show what a defensive struggle it was. The Falcons had 82 yards rushing to Hillcrest's 44. And that constitutes all the total yardage as neither team ventured into the air ways.

Three Hilcrest fumbles were recovered by the Falcons in the third and fourth quarters. And all three times the Hawks defense came up to stop them.

Finally, in the fourth quarter, Hillcrest quarterback Mike Bozich broke around his left end for 50 yards, galloping down to the Thornridge three yard line before being pushed out of bounds. From there, it was Mike Chekos running it in for the second touchdown of the night.

Over in Indiana, it was South Bend Washington edging the Gavit Gladiators 27-14, thus advancing to the state championship game next week in South Bend.

Baseball in the air

There's a nip in the air, frost on the ground, and there's talk of baseball in the air. That's right, baseball!

Even though the World Series has just ended and the high school teams won't even begin practicing for another four months, something new is being planned for next year's season.

T. F. South baseball coach Bill Anderson, already up for next season, has announced the formation of the "Thornton Township Tournament," hopefully an annual event to be first hosted by South.

As the name suggests, all Thornton Township teams (South, T. F. North, Thornridge, Thornton, and Thornwood) will be involved.

The date of the tournament is scheduled for April 12-13, with Thornton against South, North versus Thornwood and Thornridge with a bye.

A travelling trophy has been donated, with the winner keeping it for the year. Also, a plaque will be awarded to the winning team.

U Notes

By Marie Kaszak and Len Czyzewski

Today's football game will be held at 1:00 instead of 2:00 p.m. This is the last game of the season, so come out and see the Meteors.

The Senior Class Hay ride was held last night, and if we can get more members to sign up, upcoming activities include tobogganing trip, and a possible ski trip.

Girls Club Dance will be held on December 22. Any girls wishing to help should check with club members. Remember the dance is less that 2 months away.

Any junior or senior boy wanting a job should see Mr. Sivulich. For one job you will need a car. The other job is packing tuxedos.

If you are interested in attending the U.S. Air Force Academy, see Miss Kanellakes immediately.

Students are not allowed in the teachers' cafeteria. Please refrain from entering unless on official business.

Wrestling practice began this week. Boys may still sign up in room 419. Any girl is welcome to try out.

Christmas Frolic At Museum

Sugar plum fairies, lady clowns, and carolers are some of the special guests invited to "A Christmas Afternoon at Field Museum," according to announcements being mailed this week.

The gala party, planned according to Charles Dickens' best Pickwickian tradition, takes place from 4 to 7 p.m. Friday, December 14, in Field Museum's Stanley Field Hall.

The huge inner court will be appropriately decorated for the occasion with a large tree, green garlands, wreaths, and Christmas plants.

"We hope it will be as nearly like its very successful 1970 original as possible," says Mrs. B. Edward Bensinger, president of the museum's Women's Board, sponsor of the event.

Leo Henning and his orchestra will provide dance music. Other festivities include magic shows, tumblers, a balloon man, ballet performances, and a grand march. Refreshments will be served.

Tickets are $10 for adults and $5 for children, and are available from the Women's Board of Field Museum.

"Full Value" to most apartments builders and renters means a swimming pool, carpeted halls, color coordinated appliances, adequate parking and a few other features.

Here at Sherwood Lake Apts "full value" takes on a complete meaning, including enrichment of life, environment, neighbors, mood, privacy and all the intangibles that bring your "slice of life" up to full value.

Where else can you live in a 48 acre private park and still be ½ mile from a bustling shopping center at U.S. 41 and U.S. 30? That's full value! And where else 1,300 sq. ft. in a two-bedroom, two complete bathroom apartment? There is but one Sherwood Lake Apts. Come see! Models open 12 noon to 6 PM Sun. and Daily.
